USTA PRO CIRCUIT WOMEN'S TENNIS RETURNS TO PHOENIX

The 2010 Goldwater Women's Tennis Classic returns to Phoenix after the city held its first pro tournament in more than a decade a year ago. It is one of two USTA Pro Circuit women's tournaments in Arizona. (Surprise hosts a tournament in February.) This is the last USTA Pro Circuit women's event of the 2010 calendar and one of three $75,000 events for the year.

This year's main draw is expected to include 2009 US Open quarterfinalist and U.S. Fed Cupper Melanie Oudin. Oudin, 19, competed in the Fed Cup Final last week in San Diego against Italy and has represented the United States in six consecutive Fed Cup ties since making her debut in the first round last year in Surprise, Ariz. In 2009, Oudin reached the fourth round at Wimbledon and then made headlines when she became the youngest American women's singles quarterfinalist at the US Open since 1999. This year she reached the semifinals of the Paris Open in addition to the quarterfinals of four WTA events.

Oudin's Fed Cup Final teammate Coco Vandeweghe, 18, is also in this week's draw. Vandeweghe has enjoyed a breakout season, winning a USTA playoff to earn a main draw wild card into the Australian Open, claiming her first USTA Pro Circuit title at the $50,000 event in Carson, Calif., defeating Wimbledon and US Open runner-up Vera 2009 US Open quarterfinalist Melanie Oudin comes to Phoenix after playing for the United States in the 2010 Fed Cup Final versus Italy last week.

Zvonareva en route to the quarterfinals of the Olympus US Open Series event in San Diego, and most recently, defeating five Top 100 players to qualify and advance to the quarterfinals at the $2 million tournament in Tokyo.

Other up-and-coming Americans in the main draw, all 20 years old and under, include: 2009 USTA Girls' 18s singles and doubles champion Christina McHale, who won a USTA playoff to earn a wild card into the main draw of the 2010 French Open and posted her best tour result by reaching the semifinals of the WTA event in Quebec City, Canada, to rise to the cusp of the Top 100 in October; Alison Riske, who has won three ITF Women's Circuit events at the $50,000 level or above since the US Open, reached the semifinals of the 2010 Wimbledon tune-up event in Birmingham, England, and, in turn, received a wild card into Wimbledon for her first appearance in a Grand Slam main draw; and Jamie Hampton, who has played the best tennis of her career in 2010, rising more than 550 spots in the WTA rankings by reaching the final at seven USTA Pro Circuit events, highlighted by four singles titles. Hampton's success earned her a wild card into the main draw of the 2010 US Open.

Young American Coco Vandeweghe is on the verge of the Top 100 after winning two titles on the USTA Pro Circuit this year and reaching the quarterfinals of two WTA events, including the $2 million tournament in Tokyo last month.

This year's Phoenix main draw is also expected to feature: last year's singles champion Varvara Lepchenko, an eight-time USTA Pro Circuit singles titlist who finished sixth or better on the USTA Pro Circuit prize money list each year from 2005 to 2008 and advanced to the second round of both the French Open and Wimbledon this year, as well as qualifying for WTA events in Miami, Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., Rome and at the Olympus US Open Series event in New Haven, Conn.; the 1998 singles runner-up Lilia Osterloh, who has been competing on the WTA tour for more than a decade and achieved a career-high ranking of No. 41 in April 2001 after reaching the fourth round at Wimbledon and the US Open in 2000; and Mirjana Lucic of Croatia, a singles semifinalist at 1999 Wimbledon and, with Martina Hingis, the 1998 Australian Open doubles champion, who won the $50,000 event in Albuquerque in September and reached the second round of the 2010 US Open as a qualifier.

Other Americans featured in the main draw are: former world No. 39 Jill Craybas, 36, who has competed in all four Grand Slam tournaments each year since 2001, a string of 39 in a row entering 2011, with her best result coming at Wimbledon in 2005, when she knocked off Serena Williams en route to the fourth round; Lindsay Lee-Waters, a mother of two who holds 30 USTA Pro Circuit titles (19 doubles), which ranks second all-time, and who first broke into the Top 50 in 1995; Madison Brengle, who advanced to the girls' singles final at both the Australian Open and Wimbledon in 2007, and who, on the pro level, has played in the singles main draw at three of the four Grand Slam events; and USTA Pro Circuit regular Julia Cohen, a senior at California University in Pennsylvania who earned All-America honors as a sophomore at the University of Miami and earned ITA Rookie of the Year honors as a freshman at the University of Florida.

Those receiving main draw wild cards include: 17-year-old Sloane Stephens, who won the girls' doubles titles and reached the girls' singles quarterfinals or better at the French Open, Wimbledon and the US Open this year (with a semifinal showing in Flushing Meadows), and also won her first professional match at the WTA event in Indian Wells, Calif., this year; 16-year-old Madison Keys, who reached the final of the $25,000 USTA Pro Circuit women's event in Bayamon, Puerto Rico, two weeks ago and, in 2009, became the youngest player (14 years, 48 days) since Martina Hingis in 1994 to win a WTA tour-level match; and former USTA Girls' 18s champion Lauren Albanese, who has advanced to the quarterfinals or better at seven ITF Women's Circuit and USTA Pro Circuit events this year, and who won the singles and doubles titles at a $25,000 event in Mexico.

Those expected to compete in qualifying include: 18-year-old Beatrice Capra, who won a USTA playoff to earn a wild card into the 2010 US Open main draw and upset No. 18 seed Aravane Rezai en route to the third round; and 2009-10 NCAA season-end No. 1 Irina Falconi, the only American woman to qualify for the 2010 US Open, who reached the final of the $25,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Rock Hill, S.C., last month.

Other Americans in the qualifying field include: Kimberly Coats, who won her fifth USTA Pro Circuit doubles title at the $50,000 event in Boston this summer; Julie Ditty, the all-time leader in USTA Pro Circuit titles with 35; Ashla Rolle, who broke through at the 2007 US Open, where she upset then-world No. 18 Tatiana Golovin en route to the third round; Julia Boserup, a two-time U.S. Fed Cup practice partner who advanced to her first career USTA Pro Circuit semifinal at the $50,000 event in Indian Harbour Beach, Fla., this year and won the 2008 Orange Bowl as a junior; and Alexandra Mueller, who won the 2010 US Open National Playoffs and has captured three USTA Pro Circuit titles (two in doubles) this year.

Also expected in qualifying: Alexandra Stevenson, who advanced to the 1999 Wimbledon semifinals as a qualifier—becoming the first female qualifier in the tournament's history to reach the semifinals; veteran Mashona Washington, who finished 2004 ranked No. 50 in the world after reaching her first WTA final in Tokyo and advancing to the quarterfinals at the Olympus US Open Series events in Stanford, Calif., and New Haven, Conn.; Ashley Weinhold, who won the 2007 USTA Girls' 18s title, earning a singles wild card into the main draw of the US Open; and 17-year-old Ellen Tsay, who won the singles title at the 2009 USTA Girls' 18s Winter National Championships and the doubles title at the 2010 USTA International Spring Championships.

USTA PRO CIRCUIT

With more than 90 tournaments throughout the country and prize money ranging from $10,000 to $100,000, the USTA Pro Circuit is the pathway to the US Open and tour-level competition for aspiring tennis players and a frequent battleground for established professionals. The USTA launched its Pro Circuit 31 years ago to provide players with the opportunity to gain professional ranking points and has since grown to become the largest developmental tennis circuit in the world, offering more than $3 million in prize money. Last year, more than 1,000 men and women from more than 70 countries competed in cities nationwide. Maria Sharapova, Andy Roddick, James Blake, Andy Murray, Jelena Jankovic, Sam Querrey and Jo-Wilfried Tsonga are among today's top stars who began their careers on the USTA Pro Circuit.

In 2009, the USTA Pro Circuit helped launch the careers of two young Americans—Melanie Oudin and John Isner. Oudin began 2009 ranked No. 177, but climbed the rankings by winning back-to-back $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit events. With a boost in confidence, she reached the fourth round of Wimbledon and the quarterfinals of the 2009 US Open. She is now the No. 3 American woman behind Venus and Serena Williams. Isner joined the USTA Pro Circuit after turning pro in 2007 and jump-started the best season of his career by winning the Tallahassee Challenger last year. Subsequently, he reached the semifinals at two Olympus US Open Series events and upset Andy Roddick en route to the fourth round at the 2009 US Open. This year, Isner captured his first tour title and reached the fourth round of the Australian Open to become the No. 2 American in men's tennis.

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

The USTA Player Development program identifies and develops the next generation of American champions by surrounding the top junior players and young pros with the resources, facilities and coaching they need to reach their maximum potential. The Player Development program is based at the USTA Training Center Headquarters in Boca Raton, Fla., and also utilizes Training Centers in Carson, Calif., and Flushing, N.Y., as well as a series of Certified Regional Training Centers located throughout the continental United States.

30 MILLION PLAYERS

The USTA Pro Circuit serves as an integral part of the USTA's mission to grow and develop tennis in the United States. In November 2009, the USTA and Tennis Industry Association announced that tennis participation in the United States topped 30 million players for the first time in more than two decades with participation growing in all age groups under the age of 50 and within all ethnicities. Another survey conducted by the Sporting Goods Manufacturers Association last year also showed that tennis is the only traditional sport to enjoy growth in grass-roots participation.

NJTL

Cities across the country participate in the USTA/National Junior Tennis and Learning (NJTL) network, a nationwide network of community tennis organizations seeking to develop the character of young people through both tennis and education. Founded by Arthur Ashe in 1969, more than 550 registered chapters/programs exist throughout the nation with more than 220,000 participants ages 6-18, making NJTL one of the USTA's largest community-based initiatives.

US OPEN NATIONAL PLAYOFFS

The USTA hosted the inaugural US Open National Playoffs this year, making the US Open "open" to anyone age 14 and older and all skill levels. A total of 859 men and 373 women competed in 16 Sectional Qualifying Tournaments nationwide, with the winners squaring off in Atlanta (men) and Stanford, Calif. (women) for wild cards into the 2010 US Open Qualifying Tournament. Blake Strode, 23, of St. Louis, and Alexandra Mueller, 22, of Abington, Pa., won the US Open National Playoffs and competed in this year's US Open Qualifying Tournament.

Kristie Ahn

Age: 18 (6/15/92)

Hometown: Upper Saddle River, N.J.

Ranking: 506

It's been a year of firsts for Ahn, who reached the final of the $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Carson, Calif., and won her first USTA Pro Circuit doubles title at the $50,000 event in Raleigh, N.C., with Nicole Gibbs. She also began college, enrolling at Stanford in the fall (along with Gibbs). Ahn made international headlines at the 2008 US Open, winning three matches as a wild card to become the youngest player to qualify for the main draw before losing to eventual semifinalist Dinara Safina in the first round, 6-3, 6-4. Ahn also won two USTA Pro Circuit singles titles that year, and added a third—at the $25,000 event in Hammond, La.—in 2009. As a junior, she won the 2008 USTA Girls' 18s Spring National Championships and helped the U.S. capture the 2008 Junior Fed Cup title.

Lauren Albanese

Age: 21 (10/1/89)

Hometown: Coral Springs, Fla.

Ranking: 234

Albanese first established herself as a player to watch in 2006 with a tournament title at the $10,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Wichita, Kan. She followed that victory by winning the USTA Girls' 18s National Championships to earn an automatic wild card into the US Open, where she advanced to the second round of the women's singles main draw. Albanese has since been a consistent presence in the Top 200, playing primarily on the USTA Pro Circuit. This year she has advanced to the quarterfinals or better at five events and won the singles and doubles titles at a $25,000 event in Mexico. She also competed in the qualifying draws for three of the four Grand Slam events. As a junior in 2007, Albanese served as a practice partner with the U.S. Fed Cup team.

Julia Boserup

Age: 19 (9/9/91)

Hometown: Boca Raton, Fla.

Ranking: 324

Boserup had her breakthrough in December 2008, winning the Dunlop Orange Bowl for her first title on the ITF World Junior Circuit. She has built on that success over the past two years, reaching the USTA Pro Circuit doubles final at the $50,000 event in Kansas City, Mo., with partner Laura Granville in 2009 and, this year, advancing to her first career USTA Pro Circuit semifinal at the $50,000 event in Indian Harbour Beach, Calif. As a junior, Boserup advanced to the second round at the 2009 US Open girls' singles and also reached the singles and doubles semifinals at the 2008 USTA Girls' 18s National Championships. She is a two-time practice partner for the U.S. Fed Cup team, and trains full-time at the USTA Training Center Headquarters in Boca Raton, Fla.

Madison Brengle

Age: 20 (4/3/90)

Hometown: Dover, Del.

Ranking: 185

Brengle has continued to make steady progress in her professional career in 2010, qualifying for the WTA Tour event in Memphis, upsetting No. 1 seed Rossana de los Rios en route to the quarterfinals at the $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Charlottesville, Va., and reaching her fifth career USTA Pro Circuit final at the $50,000 event in Boston. Brengle won her first career USTA Pro Circuit event in 2005 at age 15 and went on to an outstanding junior career. She rose to No. 4 in the world junior rankings in 2007, when she advanced to the girls' singles final at both the Australian Open and Wimbledon. On the pro level, she has played in the main singles draw at three of the four Grand Slams, competing in the 2007 US Open and winning wild card playoffs to gain entry into the Australian Open (2007-08) and the French Open (2008).

Beatrice Capra

Age: 18 (4/6/92)

Hometown: Ellicott City, Md.

Ranking: 211

Capra had a career breakthrough at the 2010 US Open. She won an eight-player USTA playoff to earn the final wild card into the main draw—her first main draw at a tour event—where she upset No. 18 seed Aravane Rezai en route to the third round. Capra won her first professional singles title in October 2009 at the USTA Pro Circuit $10,000 event in Williamsburg, Va., and also found success on the USTA Pro Circuit this year, qualifying for four events, including the $100,000 event in Midland, Mich. As a junior, Capra was a girls' singles quarterfinalist at the 2009 US Open and a girls' doubles semifinalist at Wimbledon. She was the top-ranked player in the USTA Girls' 18s national standings for much of last year, winning the USTA Girls' 18s Spring National Championships and reaching the semifinals at the USTA Girls' 18s National Championships.

Julia Cohen

Age: 21 (3/23/89)

Hometown: Philadelphia

Ranking: 168

Cohen is a veteran of all levels of competitive tennis, excelling as a junior and collegiate player and having competed in USTA Adult events and on the USTA Pro Circuit. Cohen is currently a senior at California University in Pennsylvania after earning All-America honors as a sophomore at the University of Miami and earning ITA Rookie of the Year honors as a freshman at the University of Florida. This year she played extensively on the USTA Pro Circuit and ITF Circuit, winning a tournament in Canada and reaching the final of a tournament in Colombia the week prior to achieve a career-high ranking of No. 163 in August. In 2008, she won three USTA national championships and added another in 2009, all in doubles with her parents. Cohen peaked at No. 4 in the ITF World Junior Rankings in 2007, when she reached the Australian Open girls' doubles final.

Kimberly Coutts

Age: 21 (5/9/89)

Hometown: Bradenton, Fla.

Ranking: 282

Demonstrating steady progress up the professional ladder, Coutts won her first professional title at the $10,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Evansville, Ind., in 2007, and has since graduated to $25,000 and $50,000 events. She has reached the quarterfinals of better of four events this year and also captured her fifth career USTA Pro Circuit doubles title at the $50,000 event in Boston, peaking at world No. 147 in the WTA doubles rankings this July. In singles, she reached the quarterfinals at the $75,000 event in Albuquerque and the semifinals at the $25,000 event in El Paso, Texas. As a junior, Coutts won the 2006 Easter Bowl and was a former USTA Girls' 16s No. 1.

Jill Craybas

Age: 36 (7/4/74)

Hometown: Huntington Beach, Calif.

Ranking: 122

A Top 100 player each of the past nine seasons, Craybas reached a career-high No. 39 in 2006 at age 31. She has competed in all four Grand Slams each year since 2001, a string of 39 straight entering 2011. Her best result came at Wimbledon in 2005, when she knocked off Serena Williams en route to the fourth round. Craybas won the 2002 Japan Open on the Sony Ericsson WTA Tour and has also won four tour-level doubles titles. She has represented the U.S. in the Olympics (2008 Beijing) and the Fed Cup, and captured her third career USTA Pro Circuit singles title at the $75,000 event in Midland, Mich., in 2007. She is the only woman to be a member of a national championship team with two different schools (Texas in 1993, Florida in 1996) and won the NCAA singles championship in 2006.

Julie Ditty

Age: 31 (1/4/79)

Hometown: Ashland, Ky.

Ranking: 308

Ditty is the all-time leader in career USTA Pro Circuit titles with 35. This year the Vanderbilt graduate won the doubles title at the $50,000 event in Charlottesville, Va., with Carly Gullickson, for her 26th career USTA Pro Circuit doubles title. In 2009, Ditty teamed with Liezel Huber to win the deciding doubles match in the U.S.'s 3-2 victory over Argentina in the Fed Cup first round, and advanced to the second round of the doubles at three of the four Grand Slams to achieve a career-best doubles ranking of No. 66. In 2008, she competed in the singles main draw of the Australian Open, French Open and Wimbledon, as well as the doubles main draw of the US Open, where she reached the round of 16 with Gullickson. Ditty broke into the Top 100 in November 2007 after advancing to the semifinals of the tour event in Quebec City, Canada.

Stephanie Dubois (CAN)

Age: 23 (10/31/86)

Hometown: Laval, Canada

Ranking: 152

Dubois has ranked in the Top 135 each of the last four years, peaking at No. 95 in 2008, when she competed in the main draws of the Australian Open, French Open and Wimbledon. This year Dubois returned in the main draw of each of those Grand Slam tournaments and also advanced to her 13th USTA Pro Circuit singles final at the $50,000 event in Lexington, Ky. In 2009, she reached the second round at the US Open and the Family Circle Cup in Charleston, S.C., on the WTA Tour, and qualified for the main draw at Indian Wells. Dubois, the No. 3 Canadian woman, holds an overall 21-8 record in Fed Cup play for Canada and owns five career USTA Pro Circuit singles titles and five career doubles titles.

Irina Falconi

Age: 20 (5/4/90)

Hometown: Jupiter, Fla.

Ranking: 281

Falconi turned professional following a stellar sophomore campaign at Georgia Tech and, shortly thereafter, became the only American woman—and just the 10th qualifying wild card ever—to qualify for the US Open main draw. At Georgia Tech, Falconi posted 30 singles wins as a freshman in 2008-09 to earn All-America honors. As a sophomore, Falconi was ranked No. 1 in the 2009-10 NCAA season-end Intercollegiate Tennis Association rankings, compiled a 40-3 record overall and set a school record with 26 dual match singles wins (posting a record of 26-1). Falconi has since turned her attention to the USTA Pro Circuit. She won three singles events as a member of the 2009 and 2010 USTA Summer Collegiate Teams, including the $10,000 event in Atlanta this July. She also reached the semifinals of the $75,000 event in Vancouver, B.C., this summer and the $50,000 event in Kansas City in October.

Edina Gallovits (ROU)

Age: 25 (12/10/84)

Hometown: Atlanta

Ranking: 81

Gallovits has been a model of consistency throughout her 10-year professional career. She has played in all four Grand Slam singles main draws, advancing to the second round five times, and improved her ranking each year from 2000 to 2008, when she reached a career-high of No. 54. She has finished in the Top 100 each of the last three years, coming in at No. 93 last season. After playing primarily on the WTA Tour in 2009, Gallovits returned to the USTA Pro Circuit this year with great success, winning three singles titles—including two at the $50,000 level—to become just the third woman in USTA Pro Circuit history with double-digit singles titles. (She currently has 12, joining Kristina Brandi with 13 and Lindsay Lee-Waters with 11.) In Fed Cup play, Gallovits competed for Romania 2001 and 2003 and went 3-3 in singles, 4-8 overall.

Alexa Glatch

Age: 21 (9/10/89)

Hometown: Newport Beach, Calif.

Ranking: 284

Glatch is on the comeback trail after a career year in 2009, when she propelled the U.S. to the Fed Cup final by winning two of the U.S.'s three points—dropping just six games in four sets against two Top 50 players—in its 3-2 semifinal victory against the Czech Republic. She also defeated No. 14 seed Flavia Pennetta, 6-1, 6-1, in the first round of the 2009 French Open. This year, Glatch qualified for the main draw of the WTA Tour event in Memphis and reached the quarterfinals of the tour event in Quebec City, Canada. As a junior, Glatch reached the final of the girls' singles and doubles at the 2005 US Open, but suffered career-threatening injuries in a motor scooter accident shortly thereafter. She returned to the USTA Pro Circuit the following year and won her first career pro title at the $10,000 event in Fort Worth, Texas.

Laura Granville

Age: 29 (5/12/81)

Hometown: Chicago

Ranking: 379

A former Top 30 player, Granville is still working her way back into form following an injury that cost her most of the 2008 season. She won the first event in her comeback in 2009 at the $25,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Redding, Calif., added a second tournament title at the $10,000 event in Landisville, Pa.. Overall, she has won 15 career USTA Pro Circuit titles (nine singles), including the singles at the $75,000 event in Midland, Mich., in both 2005 and 2008, and added the doubles title this year in Midland's first $100,000 event. Granville has advanced to the third round or better at all four Grand Slams, including the fourth round at Wimbledon in 2002 and 2007, and the third round of the US Open in 2005. She is the only player to win consecutive USTA Girls' 18s national titles (1998-99) and NCAA singles titles (2000-01 at Stanford University).

Carly Gullickson

Age: 23 (11/26/86)

Hometown: Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.

Ranking: 345

An accomplished doubles player, Gullickson captured the mixed doubles title at the 2009 US Open with Travis Parrott, defeating the top three seeds en route to the title and upsetting the defending champions, Cara Black and Leander Paes, in the final. Fully recovered from an assortment of injuries that slowed her ascent in 2007, Gullickson last year qualified for both the French Open and the US Open in singles and reached the round of 16 at the US Open in doubles with Alexa Glatch. Gullickson holds 16 career USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles (fifth all-time), including the $50,000 event in Charlottesville, Va., this year with Julie Ditty. She also reached the doubles quarterfinals of the 2010 Olympus US Open Series event in Cincinnati with sister, Chelsey, the 2010 NCAA singles champion. Gullickson's father, Bill, was a professional pitcher who led the American League with 20 wins for the 1991 Detroit Tigers.

Chelsey Gullickson

Age: 20 (8/29/90) Hometown: Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.

Ranking: 963

Gullickson won the NCAA Division I singles title this year to become the University of Georgia's first NCAA women's singles champion since 1994. In turn, she received a wild card into the 2010 US Open, where she faced No. 1 seed Caroline Wozniacki in the first round. In 2009, Gullickson was named the Intercollegiate Tennis Association Rookie of the Year and tied a school record with 69 total wins. She won her first USTA Pro Circuit singles title at the $25,000 event in Raleigh, N.C., in 2008 and, that same year, teamed with sister Carly to reach the doubles final at the $25,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Hammond, La. The sisters also teamed to reach the quarterfinals of the Olympus US Open Series event in Cincinnati this year.

Jamie Hampton

Age: 20 (1/8/90) Hometown: Auburn, Ala.

Ranking: 146

Hampton has played the best tennis of her career in 2010, rising more than 550 spots in the WTA Tour rankings this year alone by reaching the final at seven USTA Pro Circuit events, highlighted by four singles titles, including victories at $50,000 events in Boston and Grapevine, Texas. Hampton was rewarded for her efforts with a wild card into the main draw of the 2010 US Open, where she took one set from No. 22 seed Maria Jose Martinez Sanchez in the first round. As a junior, Hampton twice won the USTA Girls' 18s doubles title (2007-08) to earn a wild card into the US Open women's doubles draw, and competed in the US Open juniors in singles or doubles each year from 2005 to 2008.

Krista Hardebeck

Age: 16 (9/20/94) Hometown: Santa Ana, Calif.

Ranking: 436

Hardebeck established herself as one of the most promising young players in the U.S. this year, with promising results in the juniors and on the USTA Pro Circuit. In April, she went 12-0 in junior singles play, winning the Easter Bowl without dropping a set and capturing the USTA International Spring Championships a week prior to join Sam Querrey and Melanie Oudin as the only players to win both titles back to back. She also posted her best professional result, qualifying and advancing to the quarterfinals of the $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Carson, Calif. For her successes, Hardebeck was awarded a wild card into the 2010 US Open Qualifying Tournament, where she won her opening match. Hardebeck was also recognized by Sports Illustrated in May in the magazine's "Faces in the Crowd" section, and, in August, the magazine named her a player to watch in the years to come.

Angela Haynes

Age: 26 (9/27/84) Hometown: Victorville, Calif.

Ranking: 457

Haynes found success at the Grand Slams in the early stages of her career, advancing to the third round of the 2004 US Open and taking a set from Serena Williams in the first round of Wimbledon in 2005. Injuries have proved troublesome since, but Haynes has remained a steady presence in American tennis. In 2008, Haynes advanced to the semifinals of tour-level Quebec City as a qualifier (falling to then-world No. 11 Nadia Petrova). And last year she reached the third round at Indian Wells, qualified for two WTA Tour events, won a round in qualifying at the French Open and Wimbledon, and advanced to the final round of qualifying at the US Open. Overall, she holds eight career USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles, including a victory at the $25,000 event in El Paso, Texas, this year with Ahsha Rolle, along with two singles titles.

Madison Keys

Age: 15 (2/17/95) Hometown: Boca Raton, Fla.

Ranking: 641

Keys is among the most promising young American prospects, and already has achieved success on the professional level. In 2009, she became the youngest player (14 years, 48 days) since Martina Hingis in 1994 to win a WTA tour-level match, defeating Alla Kudryavtseva in Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., and the youngest ever to compete in World TeamTennis, defeating Serena Williams in a match last summer. Keys has continued to play well this year on the USTA Pro Circuit, where she has reached the semifinals of four events and won her first professional title at the $10,000 event in Cleveland. She also received a wild card into the 2010 US Open Qualifying Tournament, where she lost in three sets in the first round. As a standout junior, Keys was a girls' 16s finalist at the 2008 Dunlop Orange Bowl and advanced to the quarterfinals of the USTA International Spring Championships earlier this year.

Michaella Krajicek (NED)

Age: 21 (1/9/89) Hometown: Bradenton, Fla.

Ranking: 135

Krajicek finished in the Top 40 of the Sony Ericsson WTA Tour rankings in 2006 and 2007, reaching the third round at the 2006 Australian Open and 2007 French Open, as well as the quarterfinals at Wimbledon in 2007. Injuries slowed her progress, but Krajicek has been working her way back into form on the USTA Pro Circuit. She holds three WTA tour-level singles titles and this year won her fourth tour doubles titles, in Memphis with Vania King. She captured her first USTA Pro Circuit singles title in 2009 at the $50,000 event in Boston and won her second $50,000 event in Charlottesville, Va., earlier this year. In 2004, the former world junior No. 1 won the singles and doubles titles at the US Open juniors and won the junior French Open doubles title as well. Krajicek is the younger sister of 1996 Wimbledon champion Richard Krajicek.

Lindsay Lee-Waters

Age: 33 (6/28/77) Hometown: Dunwoody, Ga.

Ranking: 199

Lee-Waters, a mother of two, was the leading money winner on the women's USTA Pro Circuit in 2009 and has had another successful year in 2010, winning four USTA Pro Circuit doubles events this year (all with Megan Moulton-Levy) and advancing to two singles finals, including $75,000 Albuquerque, N.M. Lee-Waters first broke into the Top 50 in 1995, when she qualified for Wimbledon and upset Pam Shriver in the opening round. Since taking time off in 2000 to give birth to her first child, a daughter, Lee-Waters has played primarily on the USTA Pro Circuit. Overall, she holds 30 USTA Pro Circuit career titles (19 in doubles), tying her for second all-time with Nana Miyagi. She has also competed in 13 US Opens, either in the qualifying or main draw, and reached the second round in both 1995 and 2004.

Varvara Lepchenko

Age: 24 (5/21/86) Hometown: Allentown, Pa.

Ranking: 87

Lepchenko, a native of Uzbekistan, has stepped up her game in the last two years, cracking the Top 100 in 2009 and playing regularly on the WTA Tour this year. After a steady rise on the USTA Pro Circuit—she finished sixth or better on the USTA Pro Circuit prize money list each year from 2005 to 2008—Lepchenko advanced to the second round of both the French Open and Wimbledon this year and qualified for WTA Tour events in Miami, Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., Rome and at the Olympus US Open Series event in New Haven, Conn. She also captured her eighth USTA Pro Circuit singles title at the $50,000 event in Las Vegas. Lepchenko has been living in the U.S. since 2001 after receiving political asylum. She changed her nationality in 2007 to play for the U.S., and will officially obtain U.S. citizenship in 2011.

Mirjana Lucic (CRO)

Age: 28 (3/9/82) Hometown: Tampa, Fla.

Ranking: 103

Lucic was one of the tennis' rising stars in the late 1990s, peaking at No. 32 in 1998 and advancing to the semifinals of Wimbledon in 1999. She also won the 1998 Australian Open doubles title with Martina Hingis and, in singles, advanced to the third round at the US Open in 1997 and 1998, and at the French Open in 2001. Lucic, however, went into semi-retirement in 2003, playing in just two events between the 2003 US Open and the 2007 Sony Ericsson WTA Tour event in Memphis, both at the $75,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Dothan, Ala. She officially launched her comeback in 2007 on the USTA Pro Circuit, and won the first two USTA Pro Circuit titles in her return this year. She also qualified for Wimbledon and the US Open, where she reached the second round to approach the Top 100 for the first time in 10 years.

Christina McHale

Age: 18 (5/11/92) Hometown: Englewood Cliffs, N.J.

Ranking: 106

McHale, one of the rising stars in American tennis, has come into her own as a professional in 2010. She won a USTA playoff to earn a wild card into the main draw of the 2010 French Open and had her best pro result by reaching the semifinals of the WTA Tour event in Quebec City, Canada, to rise to the cusp of the Top 100 in October. McHale also upset Nadia Petrova en route to the round of 16 at the Olympus US Open Series event in Cincinnati. In 2009, McHale captured the USTA Girls' 18s singles and doubles crowns, becoming the first girl to sweep the singles and doubles since 2000, to earn a wild card into the 2009 US Open. There, she became just the second USTA Girls' 18s champion this century to win her first round match. As a junior, McHale won the 2009 Easter Bowl to crack the Top 10 in the world junior rankings.

Alexandra Mueller

Age: 22 (2/14/88) Hometown: Abington, Pa.

Ranking: 416

Mueller won the inaugural US Open National Playoffs earlier this year, defeating former world No. 51 Alina Jidkova 6-0, 6-3, in the final, to earn a wild card into the 2010 US Open Qualifying Tournament. Mueller first made waves in 2003, when she won the $10,000 ITF event in Mont Tremblant, Canada, at age 15, and competed on the U.S. Junior Fed Cup team. She has made steady progress in her professional career since, competing primarily on the USTA Pro Circuit. This year she has captured three USTA Pro Circuit titles, including both the singles and doubles titles at the $10,000 event in Landisville, Pa. She has also reached the final of two $50,000 events in doubles—at Charlottesville, Va., and Raleigh, N.C.—both with Ahsha Rolle. Mueller competed in the doubles main draw of the US Open in 2004 and 2007.

Asia Muhammad

Age: 19 (4/4/91) Hometown: Henderson, Nev.

Ranking: 466

Muhammad learned to play tennis at the Andre Agassi Boys and Girls Club in Las Vegas, where she trained to become a Top 10 junior. In 2009, she won the doubles title at the USTA Girls' 18s National Championships with partner Christina McHale, earning a wild card into the main draw of the women's doubles at the US Open. Also at the Open, Muhammad upset the top seed of the girls' singles en route to the round of 16. Muhammad reached her first $50,000 final on the USTA Pro Circuit in 2008 in Las Vegas and has since become a USTA Pro Circuit regular. This year she advanced to the quarterfinals of the $50,000 events in Carson, Calif., and Lexington, Ky., and reached the doubles final of the $25,000 event in Osprey, Fla. Muhammad's father, Ronald, played basketball at USC, and her mother, Faye, was an All-American basketball player at Long Beach State.

Lilia Osterloh

Age: 32 (4/7/78) Hometown: Aliso Viejo, Calif.

Ranking: 196

Osterloh has been competing on the Sony Ericsson WTA Tour for more than a decade, finishing in the year-end Top 100 from 1999 to 2001, and again in 2007. She achieved a career-high ranking of No. 41 in April 2001 after reaching the fourth round at Wimbledon and the US Open in 2000. On the WTA Tour, Osterloh has advanced to the singles semifinals in three events and has captured two doubles titles. She won USTA Pro Circuit singles titles at the $75,000 event in Pittsburgh in 2005 and the $50,000 event in Waikoloa, Hawaii, in 2006, and, overall, has reached nine USTA Pro Circuit singles finals since 1996. Osterloh also owns seven USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles and reached the doubles final of the $100,000 event in Midland, Mich., earlier this year. She is one of just four women to have won both the NCAA singles title (at Stanford) and USTA Girls' 18s Championships.

Shenay Perry

Age: 26 (7/6/84) Hometown: Coral Springs, Fla.

Ranking: 186

Perry reached the third round at the French Open and the fourth round at Wimbledon in 2006 to peak at No. 40 in the world. Her rise up the rankings was halted, however, when she suffered a knee injury that kept her from playing singles events from mid-2007 to mid-2008. Healthy once again in 2009, Perry won $75,000 USTA Pro Circuit events in Dothan, Ala., and Albuquerque, N.M., and qualified for the US Open, where she advanced to the second round. This year she has played consistently on the WTA Tour, qualifying for the Australian Open and Wimbledon (reaching the second round) and competing in the French Open. For her career, Perry holds 15 USTA Pro Circuit titles (seven doubles). She has reached the quarterfinals or better four times on the WTA Tour.

Alison Riske

Age: 20 (7/3/90) Hometown: McMurray, Pa.

Ranking: 149

Riske has enjoyed a breakout 2010, highlighted by reaching the semifinals of the Wimbledon tune-up event in Birmingham, England, where she defeated Top 20 player Yanina Wickmayer before falling in three sets to Maria Sharapova. That showing earned Riske a wild card into Wimbledon for her first appearance in a Grand Slam main draw. She also won an ITF-level event in England in October, upsetting four of the top five seeds. Overall, she has improved her world ranking more than 750 places from the start of 2009. Riske won her first pro title last year at the USTA Pro Circuit $50,000 event in Troy, Ala., as a qualifier. As a junior, she rose to No. 2 in the USTA Girls' 18s national standings and was a finalist at the 2007 USTA Girls' 18s National Championships. Riske also served as a practice partner for the U.S.'s 2008 Fed Cup semifinal against Russia.

Shelby Rogers

Age: 17 (10/13/92) Hometown: Daniel Island, S.C.

Ranking: 344

Rogers burst onto the tennis scene earlier this year, winning a pre-qualifying event to earn a qualifying wild card into the Family Circle Cup in Charleston, S.C., on the Sony Ericsson WTA Tour, and advancing to her first USTA Pro Circuit doubles final in Mount Pleasant, S.C., both near her hometown. She also reached the final of the $50,000 USTA Pro Circuit event in Indian Harbour Beach, Fla., as a qualifier, and the quarterfinals of the $75,000 event in Vancouver prior to the US Open. On the junior circuit, Rogers earned a wild card into the main draw of the US Open by winning the USTA Girls' 18s National Championships. It was her first appearance at the US Open in the main draw or the juniors.

Ahsha Rolle

Age: 25 (3/21/85) Hometown: Miami Shores, Fla.

Ranking: 311

Rolle broke through at the 2007 US Open, where she upset then-world No. 18 Tatiana Golovin en route to the third round. That same year she qualified for the Australian Open and reached the third round at the Sony Ericsson WTA Tour event in Indian Wells, defeating No. 29 seed Meghann Shaughnessy in the second round. This year Rolle reached the quarterfinals at six USTA Pro Circuit events (including four $50,000 events) and won the doubles title at the $50,000 event in El Paso, Texas, with Angela Haynes. In 2008, Rolle qualified for the Olympus US Open Series event in Los Angeles and won a singles match as a member of the U.S. Fed Cup team in the World Group semifinals against Russia. She is a nine-time champion on the USTA Pro Circuit, capturing the singles title at the $75,000 event in Albuquerque, N.M., in 2006.

Abigail Spears

Age: 29 (7/12/81) Hometown: San Diego

Ranking: 261

Spears has played extensively on the Sony Ericsson WTA Tour, having advanced to the singles final of Quebec City, Canada, in 2004 and the third round of the Australian Open in 2005, when she reached a career-high singles ranking of No. 66. She has also won five tour-level doubles titles, one each year from 2003 to 2005, and two in 2009, when she climbed to No. 40 in the individual doubles rankings. On the USTA Pro Circuit, Spears holds 16 doubles titles spanning 2001 to 2010, which ranks fifth all-time, with her last title coming at the $50,000 event in Kansas City, Mo., this October. Spears also captured her first USTA Pro Circuit singles title since 2004 this year at the $25,000 event in Surprise, Ariz. She played one season of college tennis at UCLA (1999-2000) and, as a junior, won USTA Girls' 18s doubles titles in 1998 and 1999 with different partners.

Sloane Stephens

Age: 17 (3/20/93) Hometown: Lauderhill, Fla.

Ranking: 221

Stephens was one of the stars of the world junior circuit in 2010, winning the girls' doubles titles (with Tímea Babos) and reaching the singles quarterfinals or better at the French Open, Wimbledon and the US Open, with a semifinal showing in Flushing Meadows. In addition, in 2010 Stephens won her first professional match at the Sony Ericsson WTA Tour event in Indian Wells, Calif., beating Lucie Hradecka, and also reached her first career final at an ITF-level event in Italy. Her results this year follow a stellar 2009, when she climbed to No. 5 in the ITF junior world rankings, and in 2008 she was a semifinalist at the 2008 Dunlop Orange Bowl and helped the U.S. capture the Junior Fed Cup title that year. Also, during the 2008 US Open, Stephens teamed with Robert Kendrick to upset the No. 1 seeds in the first round of the mixed doubles and reached the girls' doubles final.

Alexandra Stevenson

Age: 29 (12/21/80) Hometown: San Diego

Ranking: 337

Stevenson, a former Top 20 player, emerged in 1999 by advancing to the Wimbledon semifinals as a qualifier—becoming the first female qualifier in the tournament's history to reach the semifinals. She was ranked in the year-end Top 100 each year from 1999 to 2003, and peaked at No. 18 in the world in 2002 after reaching her second Sony Ericsson WTA Tour final of the year. Injuries drove her rankings into the 600s in 2005, but Stevenson rebounded to climb back into the Top 200 last year, reaching the final at the $50,000 event in Carson, Calif., for her best result on the USTA Pro Circuit since winning the $50,000 event in Midland, Mich., in 1998. This year Stevenson, the daughter of basketball Hall of Famer Julius Erving, has reached the quarterfinals at $50,000 events in Lexington, Ky., and Indian Harbour Beach, Fla.

Valerie Tetreault (CAN)

Age: 22 (1/21/88) Hometown: Saint-Jean-sur-Richelieu, Canada Ranking: 173

Tetreault drove her ranking up nearly 300 places by winning three USTA Pro Circuit singles titles in 2009, including the $50,000 events in Carson, Calif., and Grapevine, Texas. She also reached the doubles final in Grapevine with American Kimberly Couts. Tetreault qualified for the 2009 US Open, her first Grand Slam event, and also for the 2010 Australian Open, where she lost to Kim Clijsters in the first round. She peaked at No. 112 in the world rankings in February after reaching the round of 16 at the tour event in Memphis, Tenn., and has reached the quarterfinals at three $50,000 events on the ITF and USTA Pro Circuit. She also went 2-0 in Fed Cup play for Canada this year.

Ajla Tomljanovic (CRO)

Age: 17 (7/5/93) Hometown: Zagreb, Croatia Rank: 160

Tomljanovic has risen more than 150 places in the WTA Tour rankings this year alone, her first full year of solely professional events, largely on the strength of her USTA Pro Circuit results. She opened the season by qualifying and winning the $25,000 event in Plantation, Fla., and in April reached the final at another $25,000 event in Pelham, Ala. She then captured an ITF-level title in Prague and reached the round of 16 at a WTA Tour event in Memphis. Tomljanovic also made her debut in Fed Cup play, going 2-1 in singles for Croatia. She peaked at No. 4 in the junior world rankings in 2009, when she reached the semifinals of the Dunlop Orange Bowl and won the doubles title at the Australian Open with American Christina McHale.

Coco Vandeweghe

Age: 18 (12/6/91) Hometown: Rancho Mirage, Calif. Ranking: 113

Vandeweghe is bearing down on the Top 100 in her finest season as a professional. She began 2010 by winning a USTA playoff to earn a main draw wild card into the Australian Open, then claimed her first USTA Pro Circuit title at the $50,000 event in Carson, Calif. This summer she reached the quarterfinals of the Olympus US Open Series event in San Diego and, following an appearance in the main draw of the 2010 US Open, posted her best WTA Tour result by qualifying and advancing to the quarterfinals of a $2 million event in Tokyo, where she scored five victories over Top 100 players, including No. 18 Aravane Rezai. As a junior, Vandeweghe won the US Open girls' singles title and the USTA Girls' 18s doubles crown in 2008. Vandeweghe's mom, Tauna, was an Olympic medalist in both swimming and volleyball, and her uncle is former NBA star Kiki Vandeweghe.

Mashona Washington

Age: 34 (5/31/76) Hometown: Houston Ranking: 340

Washington finished 2004 ranked No. 50 in the world after reaching her first WTA Tour final, in Tokyo, and advancing to the quarterfinals at the Olympus US Open Series events in Stanford, Calif., and New Haven, Conn., where she defeated then-world No. 7 Maria Sharapova. In 2005, Washington achieved her best showing in a Grand Slam by reaching the third round at Wimbledon. But she suffered a knee injury in July 2006 while playing for the U.S. Fed Cup team in Belgium and did not compete in singles again for more than a year. Washington returned to the winner's circle in May 2008, qualifying and taking the title at the $50,000 event in Carson, Calif., for her third career USTA Pro Circuit singles title. Overall, she holds 10 career USTA Pro Circuit doubles titles, including back-to-back $25,000 crowns in Florida this past January.

Caitlin Whoriskey

Age: 22 (4/19/88) Hometown: East Sandwich, Mass. Ranking: 889

Whoriskey was named the 2010 Intercollegiate Tennis Association's National Senior Player of the Year for Division I women's tennis after leading the University of Tennessee to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Tournament for the first time in eight seasons. In 2009 and 2010, Whoriskey was named to the USTA Summer Collegiate Team, posting promising results. This year she won back-to-back doubles titles at $10,000 events in Cleveland and Mount Pleasant, S.C., and then reached the doubles final of two additional $10,000 events. In singles, she advanced to the quarterfinals of three $10,000 events this summer, and last year she reached her first career USTA Pro Circuit singles final at the $10,000 event in St. Joseph, Mo., where she lost to fellow collegiate All-American Irina Falconi.
